Space in the Galleries.

France Leads in the Amount of Space Assigned to the Various Countries. A Bureau of Public Information for the Renefit of Visitors to the Columbian Exposition-Notes.

CHICAGO, May 9.—Halsey C. Ives, chief of the department of fine arts, world's Columbian exposition, completed one of the most trying duties of his position Thursday. It was the assignment of space in the fine arts building for the United States and all foreign countries that intend to show works of art at the

We Get the Best of It. American artists get the most accessible space in the galleries. They will occupy the entire northwest section of the central pavilion, and also the galleries connecting the central pavilion with the east pavilion. In order to properly unment it should be said that the galleries ferred of fine arts comprise one main building and two annexes, connected with the main building by corridors and halls. Space Assignments. The assignments of the different countries in detail are as follows in square

The apparent inequality of space as signed to certain countries may be explained by the fact that in some cases the space assigned is for important paintings in oil alone, while in others the space is intended to contain the entire exhibit of the country's works in oil, water color, decoration and the architectural exhibit. In the space assigned to Germany is included all the German schools-Bavarian, Saxon, Dresden, Dus seldorf, etc. The colonies of Gree Britain and Germany are included in the sections assigned to these two countries. In the space allotted to Austri the Hungarian and Bohemian school will be represented should the artists contribute. The four great galleries in the nave and transept will be devoted to the collections of sculpture and monumental decoration, as well as the architectural exhibit of all countries, with the exception of those alluded to above as being provided for completely in the space allotted.

'We were guided in making this arrangement by several conditions," said Chief Ives. "One was the number of applications made from the countries and the other was the strength of the artists. I believe the arrangement is as good as could have been made, taking all things into consideration. I am sure that the subject has been carefully considered and the claims of an artists

The interest of the people has been greatly increased by cision to construct for the Florida building a reproduction of old "Fort Marion," claimed to be the oldest structure on the continent. The building is a very picturesque one. The exterior will of coquina, a concrete made chiefly of shells and phosphate, and the interior will be fin bed in Florida woods, of which there are no less than 240 different varieties. In a most surrounding the fort will be sunken gardens where growing pineapples and the larger fruits will be shown. On the parapets will be hanging gardens to which the full wealth of the flora of the state will contribute. Adjacent to the building will be groves of bamboo and orange and lemon trees.

Bishop Thoburn's report gave a detailed account of the work done in the three annual conferences, the district conferences and the woman's conferences in India. It stated that the work in India was in excellent condition, but the need was great.

The working force from America had fallen off some, but the work had continued to grow. The membership had increased nearly 30,000 during the quadrennial.

The Sunday Schools. The Methodist Sunday schools in India now have a membership of over 55.-000, an increase of 15,000 during the four years past. In the day schools the church had 29,000 native pupils of India. People by thousands were giving up their idols and the native ministry was rapidly increasing both in numbers and

The report warmly commended the work of women in the missions of India. The church has established three publishing houses and is sending out pamphlets and periodicals in nine different article concludes as follows: languages from its own presses. The report recommended that there be five conferences organized instead of three. The conferences are too large at present, compelling some of the ministers to travel 2,000 or 3,000 miles to attend them. The report urged the necessity of enlarging upon the work.

Work in Africa. The special order of Saturday was the address of Bishop Taylor, of Africa. Education, the speaker said, was the only means of evangelization in Africa. His plan was to establish mission farms, stock them with the necessary tools and implements and place on them a number of boys and girls equally divided and teach them the Christian religion in addition to agriculture and iudustry. When they grew up they would pair in wedlock and thus build up Christian communities and finally a Christian dominion.

'Our country has at last awakened to the fact that its children and their pa-ternal and ancestral gods have been unduly imposed upon. Why does not our motherland do likewise to the unbelieving American race? But the time is coming when our rights must be respected. The father has asserted his willingness to listen to the appeal of his children and when we have all done our duty properly the edict will go forth prohibiting relations of any kind between China and the United States. American capital will be driven from our native lands, ships will not be allowed to land in our ports and in fact we will erect another wall in a commercial sense. But then there are conditions which must be abided. If we ask our home government to enforce these restrictions, it is made imperative upon every Chinese to return to his native hearth.
